Scope (Summary) : The objective of the LRAP Project is to improve land tenure security for increased investment in the agricultural sector. The LRAP Project includes two activities. The "Improved Regulatory Framework Activity" seeks to improve land governance policy and legislation in Togo by integrating field-tested methodologies into the regulatory framework for the New Land Code, thus lowering land registration costs and time, and increasing access to land registration for existing holders of informal land rights. The "Develop Methodologies Activity" seeks to develop and demonstrate practical land registration and land tenure management methodologies that lower costs, decrease time requirements and make land services more accessible to rural producers requiring formal protection of their customary land rights. Once tested, the methodologies shall be incorporated into the New Land Code regulations, and then utilized for national implementation of the New Land Code.
